HISTORIC ROOMS

Apartments in the Ormsby Where Politics Have Been "Done."

The Managers of Mr. G-o. S. Nixon rooms. They have selected rooms 36 and 37, off from the big parlor of the Ormsby for Nixon's headquarters. These rooms have quite a lot of hisory attached to them. They very air is redolent of politics and everything about the place is flavored with it. Every time a Senatorial fight comes off the landlord fixes up the rooms with new carpets, new furniture and new wall paper, but the odor of liquor, the faint perfume of Havana cigars and the perceptible scents of mingled branes of wine, or the ghosts of them, is still there.

The first great contest in the State was when Bill Stewart and Jim Nye wrestled for the two short terms. Stewart had his headquarters there and the "boze" flowed like a mountain torrent. He won on the first ballet, and for several days the booze continued to flow in honor of the event, and Judge Whitman were also in the race. There were seven ballots and Reno is balf an hour, and when no choice. Word was sent to Cradlebaugh that if he would give up all Government patronage he could secure his election. The answer was:

"I hat rainer be a dig and bay the moon, than be such a Senator."

That night a new combination was made, and old Nye captured the Senatorship on the first ballot with 29 votes, DeLong 16 and Cradlebaugh 7 In 1869 DeLing had the historic rooms and made a fight against Nye who had won the short term in his first tight. Nye was called the "Grev Eagle," Tom Fitch, Com Williams and John Winters were also in. It was a het personal fight and there was a good deal of newspaper abuse, flowing along with wise, whisky and cigars, ad lib. The followers of Nye made a proposition to DoLong of the Ministership to Japan, if he would draw out. It is said that he also de manded $25,000 and got it, but no one will ever know as these walls will n t speak. At any rate Nye was elected and DeLong got the Minister-

The next hig fight was between William Sharon and Jona P. Jones. Jones was a hull in the wock market, and it was charge i the Sharon was trying to break the weket to cripple

In the next campaign John P. Jones had no pp sition.

On January 14th 1879 he received 60 on the first ballott, A. M. Hillhouse getting the complimentary vote of the Democrats which amounted to 14.

The next campaign was between Wm. Sharon and Fair. Fair showered money upon the voters in that election with a lavish hand, paying as high as $80 a vote in Churchill county and $40 in Washoe. Sharon declined to spend a cent. Fair's ticket was elected, but there was a rumor that Adolph Sutro would come in and contest his seat with a big sack.

Fair came to Carson and engaged rooms at the Ormsby House, these Take Laxative Brome Quinine Tabsame rooms 35-36, but no sooner was his luggage in the hall than he asked

he Sharp Brothers, who then run the place the price of the accom d tions. "One hundred dollars a day, the regular pric-" was the answer

"Take me luggage out of the bouse me son, I have spoot so much on the must have a superstition about lucky election that I will have to econo-

Jones and Sharon had always paid that price, but Fair declined to consider it and went to "mine hoste Carey" at the Arlington.

Sutro came into the fight and took the rooms Fair had vacated.

He broke the Fair caucus, but men who were there answered to the names of absentees, and while there was no querum they bluffed it through.

Sutro captured 35 members of the legislature, and an elaborate job was fixed up to arrest Lew Drexier, a member of the Assembly, on a charge of using morey in Washoe county to purchase votes for Fair's Assembly ticket. This expose of corruption was to be the excuse for the Fair men to break for Sutro. Bob Howlands was in the plot but he gave it away to Fair, rumor says, for a consideration of $5000. He left Sutro's rooms at 3 Nye, DeLong, Judge Cradlebaugh o'clock in the morning and was seen to go to Fair's. A fast team left for Sutro's lawyers went to Reno to swear out the warrants all the witnesses had skipped. This burs'ed Sutro's bubble and Fair was elected.

Wm. Stewart was the next Senator, He had been away from the State several years, but he came back, rebuilt a house in Carson and went into the fray. It was a hot fight, but Stewart, who is one of the greatest eampaigners in the country, downed all opposition and was elected by a large vote

In 1890 Jones was again a candidate and was without serious opposition. Theo Winters got the complimentary vote. Both men painted the town red in consequence. Winters ordered up by wire $1000 worth of wine, and John Sweeney, General Roberts and A. Livingston opened it. Jones provided a lig banquet at the Arlington that cost $1.500.

Four years ago Stewart was a candidate for re-election on the Silver tick t. He had no opposition and easily carried the day. He also celebrated by a banquet at the Arlington House that all who attended say was a hummer.

The above is a brief outline of the toga since the State became a part of memory and may be imperfect as to

All the candidates of any prominence have occupied those historic. rooms at the Ormsby and some of the greatest political deals in the history of Nevada have been made there. A good many Guberna orial campaigns and 37. Jones have been planned there and many a th 53 votes, man has been taken in there quietly and metaphorically had his throat and coming" cut clean from ear to ear, when he dela't know it or who held the knife, and still the walls ke p their secrets and the various landlords who have at 1 ti e- presided over the place, when even at a asked asked about these eld time S natorial contests shrugg their so oil ters and can't seem to remember much about it.
